

W. L. Krieg of Newark, Vice Consul At Milan, Italy, Ousted By Duce's Order

While hundreds of Newark's young man today anticipated eventual departure from the city into the service of the United States, another young man of Newark – William L. Krieg, 27-year-old son of Laurence Krieg, 197 Hudson Avenue – was being politely asked to stop serving his country, in Milan, Italy, and was told it, in short, to go on home.

Young Krieg, who has been vice consul at Milan for almost 16 months, was one of two Ohioans who felt the kiss of the Axis ax when it began to swing in retaliation to Uncle Sam's "go" sign to German consuls this week.

The other Ohioans was Frank Cussans of Ada, vice consul at Bordeaux, France, who has not lived in the United States since the first World war.

Last word 3 weeks ago.

Unable to speak for his son this morning, Laurence Krieg stated that the last word received from him had arrived here three weeks ago, and was a letter describing the beauties of Lake Como, a resort at the foot of the Alps where vice consul Krieg had just spent a pleasant week-end.

Naturally, Mr. Krieg said, there was no word of "the situation" or the war in the communication.

His son, he said, would have, under ordinary circumstances, served a three-year term in Milan.

William Krieg, who made academic history before graduating from Newark high school in 1931, continued through Dartmouth, majored in history and graduated with honors in 1935.

He was graduated from the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy in 1938 and was sent in 1940 Milan, arriving there on a holiday Feb. 22.

What the government intends to do with its diplomats who suffered from the Benito's bounce – as well as those leaving German consulates – was not revealed today.

June 1941

Krieg will go to Lisbon.

Lawrence Krieg has received a cablegram from his son William saying that he is leaving Milan for Rome today and will go to Lisbon July 14 at which time he is to be reassigned for duty. Mr. Krieg has been vice consul at Milan for the United States government.

W. L. Krieg of Newark, Vice Consul At Milan, Italy, Ousted By Duce's Order

While hundreds of Newark's young men today anticipated eventual departure from the city into the service of the United States, another young man of Newark — William L. Krieg, 27-year-old son of Laurence Krieg, 197 Hudson avenue—was being politely asked to stop serving his country, in Milan, Italy, and was told, in short, to go on home.

Young Krieg, who has been vice consul at Milan for almost 16 months, was one of two Ohioans who felt the kiss of the Axis ax when it began to swing in retaliation to Uncle Sam's "go" sign to German consuls this week.

The other Ohioan was Frank

Cussans of Ada, vice consul at Bordeaux, France, who has not lived in the United States since the first World war.

Last Word 3 Weeks Ago.

Unable to speak for his son this morning, Laurence Krieg stated that the last word received from him had arrived here three weeks ago, and was a letter describing the beauties of Lake Como, a resort at the foot of the Alps where Vice Consul Krieg had just spent a pleasant week-end.

Naturally, Mr. Krieg said, there was no word of "the situation" or the war in the communication.

His son, he said, would have, under ordinary circumstances, served a three-year term in Milan.

William Krieg, who made academic history before graduating from Newark high school in 1931, continued through Dartmouth, majored in history and graduated with honors in 1935.

He was graduated from the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy in 1938 and was sent in 1940 to Milan, arriving there on a holiday Feb. 22.

What the government intends to do with its diplomats who suffered from Benito's bounce—as well as those leaving German consulates — was not revealed today.

June 1941

meeting.

Krieg Will Go To Lisbon.

Lawrence Krieg has received a cablegram from his son William, saying that he is leaving Milan for Rome today and will go to Lisbon July 14 at which time he is to be reassigned for duty. Mr. Krieg has been vice consul at Milan for the United States government.

Local Chinese Gets Tribute