Monday evening

Dear Mother:-

Exams are all over, and I will just take a few minutes to dash off a supplement to my previous letter for this week. I believe I forgot to mention Daddy's shirt that you spoke of. I had to laugh when you said he said it was his best white shirt which he intended to wear to the Rotary Club, as the shirt you sent here of Daddy's is a blue one - Hitt is the name in the collar. I haven't sent it back yet, as I don't know whether he needs the blue one as much as the white one or not. He must have one of my blue ones as I checked up and found one missing. Don't bother to send it as the problem now is where to keep my shirts, not to get more. The shirt drawer is full, and several are reposing in other drawers. The size 14 1/2 shirts fit very well after one laundering. I'm sorry you bothered to send that other white shirt, as I had left it home on purpose - it is much too small for me and worn out to boot.

While we are on the subject of laundries, I have been wondering if it wouldn't be cheaper to send everything home except the shirts. They are the only things I ever have to have in a hurry, as I now have enough socks, underwear, etc. to last over a two-week period. I rather doubt if this scheme would work out, but you can think it over and let me know.

When I wrote to Daddy, I forgot that since this is the beginning of the semester I will need a little more money than usual as I will have some books to buy. There will not be many books, as we will use the same books in chemistry, poly sci, and probably French, for a while, but in history and Latin I will need new books at once. As I started in on my last $10 this morning, the sooner the better. I hate to ask for money, but I guess that is one thing I can't do without. My $10 per week is as near the bottom as I can come. Counting $8 for board and $1 for laundry, this just leaves $1 for incidentals. Suppose I buy a tube of tooth paste: that leaves just 50¢ for all the rest of the week. So what with hair-cuts and all the other things you can't get along without you see this is not a very liberal schedule. My estimate of $1400 for the year last year is very small. I mentioned it to a fellow once who I do not think is at all rich, and he said he had spent $1000 last year.

The Carnival is coming on, and of course I have to pay a house-tax of $6. I can not do this until I get some money from you. My check from the bank must have arrived, so that will help a little. If necessary, there is always the principle from which the interest comes, but at a time when most investments are passing their dividends, 5% semi-annually is a drop- at least. Outside of the house tax I do not expect to spend much on the Carnival. I will not go to the skiing or skating events, or the hockey game, and I may miss the Winter's Court and the basketball game with Yale. Well, I must go now and eat. Love to all. I am very well.
