Dear Folks:-

I have always thought giving pictures of one's self the height of conceit. I hope that you won't look at it that way, and that perhaps they may be a more acceptable gift than something I could buy in a store. One of them is for Ninnie and Charlie, and the other for Aunt Vonie. I haven't any Christmas stickers and wrapping paper here, but I don't believe our Christmas spirit depends on such small things. I just want you to know I am thinking of you and wishing you Merry Christmas and sending you all my love.
